About us

We are a group of volunteers based at Chatelherault Country Park in South Lanarkshire.

Our mission is to provide a recreational space with informal activities that foster mental wellbeing through growing, conserving and working with natural materials.

Our guiding principles are founded on environmental sustainability and mutual support.

Our volunteers are able to develop new skills and gain experience through a variety of opportunities:

- Woodworking
- Gardening
- Conservation
- Crafting

. . . or we simply come to socialise with our friends

Crafting

The act of making something artistic and useful brings a deep sense of satisfaction.

Furniture from old barrels

A burning success

Crafting for Christmas

Gardening

Producing our own vegetables and flowers promotes a positive mental and physical wellbeing

Hard work and fine reward

Our recycled rockery

Conserving and Improving

We seek to leave our environment as a better place for all to enjoy . . .

. . . at our own site (before and after)

. . . and across the Park

Some Recent Projects

- Building a COVID- friendly shelter
- Crafting garden sculptures using timber from the park
- Growing wild flowers for improving biodiversity in Council parks and green spaces
- Growing plants for the heritage borders at Chatelherault
- Helping Council Rangers with local conservation

Our Facilities

We are based at the Council Compound at Chatelherault Country Park. We enjoy serviced indoor accommodation and have sheltered outdoor project and meeting spaces. We operate a well-equipped workshop and offer two polytunnels and a range of deep beds for volunteers' use.

We are open Wednesdays and Fridays from 9.30am – 2.30pm
and Mondays by arrangement
